AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

JOHN Y. McKANE IN HIS OLD PLACE. John Y. McKane, supervisor of Gravesend, was dnanimously elected to the office of temporary president of the Kings County Board of supervisors at the annual meeting yesterday afternoon. The supervisor at-Large of the county is the presiding officer of the Board by law, but the power to appoint the committees is no vested in him, but in the president pro tem. Mr. Mc Kane held the place for several years up to 1889, when the Democratic majority, of whom Mayor Chapin was ne, deleated him because he had been expelled from the party for failing to support a regular candidate. McKane acted with the Republicans in all political matters, with his hundreds of adherents in his town, until last fall, when he and they supported the Democratic county candidates. The way was then prepared for their return to the Democratic ranks and Mr. McKane insisted upon being restored to his former office. Mayor Boody and half a dozen other new supervi-orattended yesterday's meeting. Mr. McKane's nomination to succeed R. L. Buisley as temporary president made by Supervisor McGuire, Democrat, and sec onded by Supervisor Lockwood, Republican, and he was the unanimous choice of all who voted. The Republi-can minority in the Board is much smaller than it has been for many years. Mayor Boody took an active part in the meeting.

WOMEN CLOSE THEIR MISSIONARY MEETING. The twenty-fourth annual session of the Woman's Congregational Board of Missions was ended yesterday in the Central Congregational Church. The officers including Mrs. Judson Smith, president; Miss A. B. Child, secretary, and Miss Ellen Carrath, treasurer, were re-elected. Addresses were made by Mrs. Baer, of Chicago; Mrs. H. E. Jewett, Miss McElroy, Miss Carrie Borden and Mrs. Rhea. Miss Fidelia Phelps spoke of her work among the Zulus of South Africa, which she is soon to return. The principal address of the morning was delivered by Dr. storrs, presiden of the American Board. He spoke brilliantly and effectively and was listened to with the closest attention as he showed why women should be interested in mission work and the advantage the work gained from their zeal and enthusiasm. Dr. Storrs v followed by the Rev. C. H. Daniels, of New-York. the afternoon Mrs. C. L. Goodell spoke upon "Our Prayers: Their Effect upon Our Missionaries, upon the Native Converts, upon Curselves." Missionaries, upon the Native Converts, upon Curselves." Missionary addresses were made by Mrs. Agnes M. Gordon, of the Japan Mission, Miss M. E. Andrews, of the North China Mission, and Mrs. Myra P. Tracy, of the Western Turkey Mission. The final address was made by Mrs. Smith. The meeting was regarded as extremely successful.

HE WAS MERELY A SWINDLER.

Gustave Baerend, who was arrested on Saturday st, while masquerading as Gaston de Leon, a nephew of the Count of Paris, was arraigned before Justice Boetting, in the Lee Avenue Police Court, yesterday, and pleaded guilty to a charge of swindling. Haer end's arrest was the result of a complaint made by George Scheck, of No. 74 Broadway, who advanced to him 8500 to go to Philadelphia to establish his identity, so that he could obtain $110,000 from Drexel, Morgan & Co., who, he said, had the money in trust for him. Since Baerend's confinement po less than a dozen people have offered to come forward and give testimony as to how they had been swindled by the prisoner. The complaints were from people in different Eastern States. When Baerend learned that the magistrate had letters in his possession from his various victims, he offered the plea of guilty, with a When questioned, Baerend said that he had arrived in this country from France in 1883. In October last he was discharged from Auburn Prison, after serving a four and a unif years' sentence for swindling. He will be sentenced on Tuesday.

THE REV DR. N. E. WOOD MAY GO TO BROOKLINE The Rev. Dr. Nathan E. Wood, for the last six years paster of the Strong Place Baptist Church, has been called to the pastorate of the Brookline, Mass., Baptist Church, to success Dr. O. P. Gifford, now of Chicago. The sting effected to him is $5,000 a year.

A committee from the church called upon Dr. Wood vesterday and laid before him the formal call, of which had been informed in advance by telegraph, and the facts in regard to the church were presented for his consideration. The church of which Dr. Wood has been asked to become pastor has about 350 members, many of whom are wealthy. Dr. Wood is regarded as an able preacher and scholar. He is about forty years old, and was graduated at Chicago University. It is thought likely that he will go to Brookline, as the air of Brooklyn does not agree with his throat. His work in the Strong Place Church has proved suc-cessful. His salary is $4,500 a year.

HE SHOT HIMSELF THROUGH THE HEART. Charles Otto Olrik, an architect, forty-one years old, living at No. 171 Nostrand-ave., shot htmself flirough the heart yesterday afternoon with a 32-calibre revolver. Death was instantaneous. He had been suffering from Death was instantaneous. He had been suitering from an attack of the grip and for several days complained of severe pains in his head. While his wife was absent from his bedside at 2 o'clock Olrik got up from his bed and took the pistol from the bureau drawer in an adjoining room. He then returned to his bed and fired the United States, arrived here ye-terday on the White ing room. He then returned to his bed and fired the latal shot. Mrs. Olrik was attracted by the report, and on reaching the bedside found her husband dead. Coroner Lindsay will hold an inquest.

GATHERED ABOUT THE TOWN. A bill has been introduced at Albany to prohibit the erection of an elevated railroad in Eighth-ave. R. D. Benedict has been re-elected president of the Society of Vermonters. Wilson H. Olcott, who married Miss Laura Thorn when already a Imsband, plended guilty to bigamy in the Court of Sessions yesterday. He will be sentenced on Friday of next week.

Mrs. Mary Louise Race is suing the Union Ferry Company to recover $20,000 as damages for personal injuries caused by a fall as she was going aboard a boat at Fulton-st. on December 6, 1890, when the been forwarded to the Legislature by Corporation Counsel Jenks, who drew them up at the request of Mayor Boody. They relate to street cleaning, Jocal improvements, election expenses, sites for police stasites for small parks, the assessments of elevated railroad companies, personal taxes, the grading of streets, and the rate of interest on city bonds, which may be raised from 3 to 4 per cent. A belated case of remorse of conscience was brought to light yesterday when a man sent 21 cents to the Brooklyn City Railroad Company, saying that he had defranded the company out of that sum when a boy by paying only half-fare when he was old enough to pay full fare. The money was transferred to the treasury of the company.

NEEDS OF A FREE CIRCULATING LIBRARY.

IT HAS BEEN DOING GOOD WORK, BUT IT WOULD DO BETTER IF IT HAD MORE MONEY.

The twelfth annual report of the trustees of the New-York Free Circulating Library, which has just been issued, shows an excellent record for the last year and improvement over 1890. The total expenses for 1891, according to the report, were $25,416 08, an increase of $3,664 over those of 1890. The additional sum was spent for the most part in the purchase of books and library supplies.

The total circulation of the library, which includes the branches at Nos. 48 Bondest, 135 Second-ave., 226 West Forty-second-st, and 251 West Thirteenth-st., was 412,178, showing an increase of 10,523 over the Only eleven books were lost. The preceding year. Only eleven books were lost. The library with its branches now contains 58,125 vol-4,293 having been added during 1891.

Little change has been shown in the character of the books chosen by the people who used them, pi-though the books classed as "literature" were asked for most frequently. The report also says that a slight increase has been noticed in the circulation on Sandays, when the libraries are open from 4 p. m.

to 9 p. m.

The library, however, needs money, as is apparent from the following extract from the report. Your committee for the last twelve years has been crippled by lack of money and has been unable to do many things which would increase the usefulness of the libraries. The salaries of many of the librarians are findequate, and we have not been able to employ as large a force as was necessary in cataloguing and expert work. The worn-out volumes have not been as rapidly replaced as desirable, and the number of new boeks and duplicates of popular books purchased has been too small. As it is, with an annual expenditure of about 824,000, the buildings of the four libraries have been kept in thorough repair, a circulation of over 400,000 books has been maintained, over 150,000 people have used the reading-rooms and the work of the librarians has been done to the general satisfaction of those using the libraries and reading-rooms. If the board of trustees has the money to enable us to make some peeded improvements, your committee feets sure that a slightly increased expenditure would render the libraries much more useful to the public than they now are.

GREEN GOODS MEN IN COURT.

Ratellife. All were remanded without ball until this morning. Ratellife is a white-haired man, fifty-six years old, apparently a German. The stories which he told of how he met the green-goods men were not consistent. To Justice McMahon he said: "I live in Kingman, Park County, Indiana, sixty miles from Indianapolis. I have lived there all my life. I am a village trustee, and am the oldest elder in the Methodist Church. I am a married man, too, judge, and the father of four grown children, so, you see, I would not buy any bad money. Why, if such a thing was ever suspected in my town I would be ruined

Then he continued in a much lower key, as he leaned over the bar. "Judge, in God's name, keep this thing quiet, will you. If you say you will I'll leave this place this minute, and I'll go right back home."

Jensen and Adams said they would prove that a mistake had been made. It is said that they are well

A Mrs. Balley, who lives in the same house the midwife's home is in gave the most damaging testimony against the accused woman. Mrs. Balley swore positively that on the night of January 4 she saw the babe sleeping in bed with a daughter of Mrs. Breutschweidt. At a previous hearing the accused woman swore that the chill, which she obtained from a college in New York, had been adopted by a dark haired woman two or three days before January 4, when the abandoned infant was found. Mrs. Balley's evidence flatly contradicted this statement. Other corroborative evidence was given by witnesses, and the Justice held the woman for the Grand Jury on a charge of atrocious assault and battery.

LONG ISLAND.

FAR ROCKAWAY,-The fight between the Long Island Express Company and the Far Rochaway Bank continues. The bank has just begun to roll out to the company's men the third ton of silver. It seems that the express company has entered into a contract with the Queens County Bank, of Long Island City, by which it comes into possession for collection of a great many checks on the Far Rockaway Bank. These are presented at the counter of the bank and the cash obtained is handed over to the Queens County Bank. less a certain charge for collecting. The fight began when these checks were diverted from their regular channels of banking into an express company's hands. This partnership was formed over a year ago, and has cost the Rockaway bank, it is said, more than $500 of its legitimate exchange earnings that have gone to the express company. On this account, the teller is instructed by the bank's officers to pay the company's agent just what the law allows, and so, for a $2,500 check, the messenger receives 2.470 silver dollars, mineteen fifty cent pieces, forty twenty five-cent pieces, 100 ten-cent pieces, five nickels and twenty-five pennles.
